			It is a takeover not an amalgamation. Staff at the Junior school have priority over jobs (As stated in previous letter to staff). The qualities and qualifications should be considered for each role without any
No	Member of staff at St George's Infant School and Nursery or St George's New Town Junior School		priority given to the one school. I'm guessing the cost would be prohibitive but consideration should be given on putting the schools on one site for a truly integrated primary School	2020-06-11 20:06:05
Yes		A local headteacher in Colchester,	Having read the proposals, I believe the plan makes a lot of sense: the challenges the Infant School has have been great and sometimes through no fault of their own. Mr Messer clearly has the trust of many local headteachers and has a lot of skills to lead both schools through a period of turbulence that has existed before OFSTED and certainly since
	Other (please say using comments box at Question 3)		their visit. I fully support the plan and believe the right choices have benenmade.	2020-03-12 12:00:36
Yes			How do you plan to support and develop the children now .not in September now and obviously moving forward .how has it drastically changed from reception to year one to the point i have already raised concerns and i worry about my son going to school .in reception i had no such worries .how is it acceptable that my sons so called helper for

Yes	Member of staff at St George's Infant School and Nursery or St George's New Town Junior School		I think the amalgamation is a fantastic step for joint work between the schools and family collaboration.	2020-06-11 11:13:13
Yes	Member of staff at St George's Infant School and Nursery or St George's New Town Junior School		It makes sense fort he school to amalgamate into a primary in order for the pupils to have improved transition and a more cohesive and consistent approach in their early education.	2020-06-11 11:16:43

When this proposal was announced to the staff at the Junior School, I had to contain my joy and delight at the prospect of both the schools becoming one. I have had a long association with both of the schools (our 3 children have attended both schools), I have been a member of the PTA, did 5 years worth of volunteer work in their Forest School sessions at the Infants, attended school prize for both schools, amongst other things - and have been a member of the PTA, did 5 years worth of volunteer work in their Forest School sessions at the Infants, attended school prize for both schools, amongst other things - and have been a member of staff at the Junior School for just over 5 years. I cannot think of a better way of ensuring that the children who start at the Nursery and make their way through to Year 6, get a wonderful, consistent education. Each September, staff worry about the behavioural Issues that we will be faced with when the Year 3 children start. It isn't long before the magic of our school starts and we see the transformation in behaviour. The consistent approach around behaviour of the children in our school is what makes the difference. It makes the children feel safe, secure, valued and heard. Mr Messer is a truly brilliant Head Teacher and leader and I know he will put his heart into making sure that each and everyone of the children at the Primary School receives the BEST education and support. 		The LA has stated the benefits quite clearly of the advantages of such a merger such as a continuity of provision and not needing to apply for KS2 entry to a junior school. Could the LA and GBs provide the financial 'benefits' of such a merger. How much would the estimated savings amount to and where would those savings be made?
Yes		As the proposal states there might be some need for job roles to be redefined to avoid duplication of posts I request that all staff on both sites are informed that at the very least a protection of salary of at least three years for a teacher and 18 months for other staff would be applicable should an employee be adversely affected.
		It would be helpful that the GBs of both schools state on the record that there has been no discussion or plans to make redundancies.

			quite jarring to have two separate schools with slightly different ways of doing things, ranging from uniform to homework policies. Practically speaking, this can hit parents financially, and can prove tricky when supporting learning at home if you have children at both schools but with differing policies on basic learning.
			By amalgamating the schools, obstacles such as applications from year 2 to year 3 will be removed, as well as offering a much better continuity of care when children move from KS1 to KS2. This will allow more stability for children and families and take away the uncertainty and worry over school places.
Yes			The vision of the school will be clearer, and a more unified approach to supporting and educating the children will become apparent through the strong leadership from the team at the Junior School.
			Since my children left the Infant School a few years ago, it has been hard and sad to watch the school decline whilst the Junior School appeared to thrive and succeed. It is a shame that New Town families did not have faith in their local community Infant school to carry on and progress to the Junior School but it is understandable that parents moved their children to give them the best education and environment possible.

Yes			There seems to be a contradiction in the information. One para says: " the governing body of the junior school has expressed its intention to treat staff at both the infant school and junior schools equitably and to create a staff structure that maintains the knowledge and skills from both current staff teams." But the next para says: "All the teaching and support staff employed at the junior school (at the time of the proposed amalgamation) would automatically continue their employment in what will become the primary school, save for where any workgroups are subject to restructuring."
			How is it fair and equitable if priority is given to staff working at the Junior school?
			The infant school still has 2 demountable classrooms which are are not ideal. Are there any plans to replace this with permanent buildings or
