

Essex and Southend-on-Sea Replacement Waste Local Plan

PRE-SUBMISSION DRAFT: CONSULTATION STATEMENT

December 2015

REPLACEMENT WASTE LOCAL PLAN PRE-SUBMISSION CONSULTATION STATEMENT

Introduction

Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council have worked in partnership to prepare a new joint Essex and Southend-on-Sea Replacement Waste Local Plan. As required by Regulation 22 (1) (c) of the Town and Country Planning (Local Planning) (England) Regulations 2012, this statement details the stages of consultation / engagement undertaken in preparing the Replacement Waste Local Plan (RWLP).

This statement includes information on the four consultations held prior to the Pre-Submission engagement stage.

In particular, this statement sets out:

- Who was invited to make representations
- How they were invited to make representations
- A summary of the main issues raised by those representations
- How the issues have been addressed in the plan

Name Change

The Town & Country Planning (Local Planning) (England) Regulations 2012 has resulted in a name change for our waste development documents. Previous consultation stages that led to the Replacement Waste Local Plan (RWLP) were referred to as the Waste Development Document (WDD). Once the plan is adopted, it will supersede the current Joint Waste Local Plan of 2001 and be known as the Essex & Southend-on-Sea Waste Local Plan. The first two stages of consultation carried out pre-2012 regulations - Issues & Options and the Preferred Approach - are referred to as the Waste Development Document throughout this statement.

Statement of Community Involvement

This statement sets out engagement / consultation that is considered to have been undertaken in accordance with the Essex County Council Statement of Community Involvement (SCI), which was adopted in September 2015 and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council's SCI, adopted in 2013. Both SCIs set out how the councils should consult on the future policies for minerals and waste. Earlier stages of the Waste Local Plan were in accordance with the Essex Statement of Community Involvement adopted in October 2009 and December 2012, and Southend-Borough-Council's SCI adopted in 2009.

Duty to Co-operate

The duty to co-operate has been a requirement since 2011. This is addressed in a separate document titled the Duty to Co-operate Report. This provides the evidence to demonstrate that Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea have met the legal and soundness requirements relating to cooperation in preparing their Replacement Waste Local Plan. It outlines the stages undertaken in its preparation, before identifying the strategic issues and describing the cooperation undertaken with relevant prescribed bodies.

Consultation stages

Four consultation stages have been undertaken in the preparation of the Replacement Waste Local Plan: Pre-Submission Draft. The following sections set out what consultation stages took place, when they were carried out, a summary of the main issues and what changes were made following each consultation. The continuing development of the plan is shown by the consultation audit trail of feedback and changes, made as part of the consultation process.

During the preparation of the plan the regulations that prescribe the procedures to be followed have been amended (most recently in April 2012). The first four consultations can be said to be equivalent to the new Regulation 18 (Preparation of a local plan), the fifth engagement - the Pre-Submission stage - is equivalent to Regulation 19 of the new Regulations (Publication of a local plan) and Regulation 20 (Representations relating to a local plan) under which representations to the plan are made.

Issues and Options – October 2010

The Waste Development Document - Issues and Options October 2010 consultation (WDD I&O) was the first informal consultation stage in the preparation of the document that is now the Replacement Waste Local Plan Draft. The I&O was prepared in accordance with Planning Policy Statement 10 (Planning for Sustainable Waste Management). While the Regional planning body had just been abolished and the Regional Spatial Strategy revoked, the data from the Submission Regional Spatial Strategy (RSS) (2010) was considered at the time to still be the most up-to-date and robust evidence available.

The three permitted Integrated Waste Management Facilities with recycling, composting, treatment and energy recovery processes, located at Rivenhall Airfield, Stanway and Basildon were considered to have a vital role in ensuring the Plan area's waste management infrastructure met the required capacity for LACW and C&I waste to push waste management up the hierarchy. Predicted capacity gaps for waste management and disposal facilities, included inert, non-hazardous and hazardous landfill void space, composting and C&D Recycling facilities.

The consultation document included information and questions on core strategy, development management policy issues and importantly contained the first public 'call for sites'. Key questions for which feedback was sought was whether it was desirable to plan for net-self-sufficiency and adhere to what had been the Plan area's apportionment figure in the RSS for London's wastes. There were also key questions around where new facilities were sought including whether it was best to expand and co-locate with existing facilities, utilising existing key urban centres of population and growth, decentralised approach or focusing on area with limited existing capacity.

There were also questions around what types of sites would be most suitable for different waste management facilities.

At this time it was envisaged that the main WDD was to comprise the Waste Core Strategy, Development Management (DM) policies and strategic site allocations. There was also intended to be a subsequent document for Non- Strategic Site Allocations. Consequently there was a question around how best to define strategic and non-strategic sites e.g., size, area, throughput etc.

The consultation was prepared and delivered in accordance with the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2008. It was conducted as informal consultation under the then Regulation 25 (pre-submission consultation) which notified the specific and general consultation bodies, as considered appropriate by Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council.

The Issues and Options consultation was held for an eight-week period from 7 October to 2 December 2010.

Who was consulted and how

The consultation document and/or summary document and CD along with a letter containing a web link to the documents on the council website were sent to those consultees selected in accordance with the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2008. The consultee list included the required statutory bodies (such as the Highways Agency, the Environment Agency, Natural England) and local district/borough and parish/town councils, as well as the appropriate MPs, community groups and the wider business/waste industry for both Essex and Southend. A full list of consultees for this stage can be found in Appendix B.

The consultation was publicised to Essex and Southend residents via a poster campaign (to all Essex and Southend libraries, district/borough council offices, parish/town councils and gypsy/traveller sites for noticeboards), a public notice that appeared at the start of the consultation in newspapers covering Essex and Southend, a press release which was circulated to the relevant local press and media at the start of the consultation period.

News of the consultation also featured on the Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council websites, in Making the Links (a monthly newsletter distributed to all Essex parish/town councils) and also on Engage Essex – ECC's consultation website. An A5 leaflet detailing the consultation and the consultation events was sent out to ECC members, parish/town councils, waste collection authorities and handed out at consultation events.

With the aim of raising maximum public awareness of the consultation a series of public roadshows and workshops were held throughout the consultation period – see details below in Additional Consultation Activities.

Inspection copies of the main document and its accompanying summary were available at all Essex and Southend libraries – A CD of supporting documents was made available on request. The document, its summary and a CD of the full suite of consultation documents was supplied to all district/borough councils and all was made available to view at Essex and Southend-on Sea council offices on request. All consultation documents were also available to view on both councils' websites, as was the response form and dates for the roadshows and workshops.

Additional consultation activities

Thirteen roadshows were held in libraries around the county, including Southend during the consultation period. The roadshows were free and open to all members of the public so that they were given to speak with officers on a one-to-one basis about the document and the consultation. Both Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council's felt the roadshows provided an informal environment to respond to residents' questions compared to public meetings. Holding open events on various dates throughout the day and occasionally the evening, when library times permitted, gave seldom heard groups more chance of learning about the consultation. Summary documents, CDs of the full document suite, response forms and leaflets were handed out at each roadshow. The roadshows were promoted in a number of ways; consultation letters, posters sent to libraries and parish councils, leaflets sent to parish councils, press release circulated to local media and on the ECC website.

Five independently facilitated workshops were held during the consultation period around the county including Colchester, Chelmsford, Brentwood, Braintree and Southend. Publicised via consultation letters, leaflet, press release, poster, during the roadshows and on the ECC website, the workshops were held to gain feedback from a representative cross-section of people and businesses from the consultation area. Exactly 100 people attended the five workshops. In respect of the Vision for the Waste Plan attendees perceived future advances in processes and techniques in the waste industry as the most likely way things will improve by 2031, closely followed by appropriate legislation and regulation. Each of the workshops generated feedback that was used to develop the next stage of the plan and also encouraged participants to respond to the Issues and Options consultation itself.

Representations

In total 1488 comments were received from 96 individual respondents, who responded via letter, email, fax and online. Of those 96 respondents 10 were members of the public with the other 86 made up of specific and general consultees. For a full list of responses see Appendix C.

Please note if an individual made multiple representations to the same consultation question they were recorded internally as one comment while on our online consultation portal multiple representations from an individual to the same question were logged separately.

There had been broad support to the vision contained in the Issues and Option consultation document. In terms of the spatial strategy, most respondents to the Issues and Option had favoured a hybrid approach to the different options of concentration, decentralised, areas with limited capacity or based around existing urban centres of population and growth. A majority favoured a decentralised approach with a focus on key urban centres coming in at a close second.

There were mixed responses from consultees regarding what more the WDD could do to promote and enable the prevention and re-use of waste in the Plan area. Some consultees felt that given its importance more should be done at the top of the waste hierarchy whereas others acknowledged the inability of the Waste Planning Authority per se to influence this tier.

Far more respondents agreed with the principle of safeguarding existing waste sites and facilities to ensure no net loss in the existing waste management capacity. Those that disagreed, were generally on the basis that specific sites were either incorrectly located or are causing problems.

The majority of respondents sought that Waste Consultation Zones be established around all waste management facilities).

The Overview Workshop Report on the Joint WDD: Issues and Options Consultation showed that the principal public concerns in relation to the location of waste management facilities were traffic and transport issues, with these being seen as both the greatest advantage and disadvantage of locating such facilities close to waste arisings. Odour and pollution was also a chief concern in respect of biological treatment.

There were a significant number of questions based around the approach to be taken to general locational criteria.

In respect of Construction and Demolition Recycling Facilities the most popular location was on development sites on a temporary basis followed closely by co-location with existing waste facilities.

Preferences for biological treatment were either industrial estates (anaerobic digestion plants), co-location with other waste facilities (in-vessel composting) or on redundant farm buildings, mineral working and landfill sites (open windrow composting).

The majority agreed with the approach taken to waste water treatment which was access to a suitable water course, proximity to existing sewerage infrastructure and ability to avoid or mitigate impacts.

Respondees were split between benefits vs disincentives of locating landfills close to waste arisings (e.g., centres of population). In terms of locations there was very even split of opinion between the options proposed including Option 1 (void space within existing C&I landfill sites to accept MSW, subject to environmental considerations), 2 (void space within mineral working and landfill sites) and 3 (within extensions to existing landfill facilities) respectively.

Most respondents agreed with the approach to land raising where it should only be permitted where there was an identified need, lack of alternatives, being restoration-led, would not result in harm to human health / natural environment / landscape and where the overall development principle is accepted.

Most respondents broadly agreed with the suggested policy criteria for dealing with hazardous waste, which included both looking for a hazardous landfill site within the Plan area, and in the interim continuing to export hazardous waste out of the Plan area.

There was a fairly even split of opinion between agreeing that radioactive wastes should be disposed of at Bradwell Power Station, or within the Plan area, and those disagreeing with this approach.

Most respondents broadly agreed with the approach to climate change, highway and transportation.

The representations on the Issues and Options document were considered before informing the Preferred Approach.

Preferred Approach - November 2011

The Preferred Approach was the second informal consultation stage. It consisted of the Waste Development Document Preferred Approach and the Waste Development Document Preferred Approach – Site Assessment. The documents set out the preferred approaches to the Core Strategy. This included the spatial vision, strategic objectives, spatial strategy, core policies, development management policies. The second document set out the site selection methodology and preferred and non-selected site allocations and monitoring framework.

While Waste Planning Authorities were still to prepare Waste Plans in accordance with Planning Policy Statement 10 (Planning for Sustainable Waste Management) they also had to have regard to the draft National Planning Policy Framework, which didn't have waste specific policies.

In line with national policy, the approach remained focused on planning for net-self-sufficiency. However, there had been a further iteration to the waste capacity gap data (2011). The three permitted Integrated Waste Management Facilities were still considered to have a vital role in ensuring the Plan area's waste management infrastructure met the required capacity for LACW and C&I waste to push waste management up the hierarchy. Predicted capacity gaps for waste management and disposal facilities, included inert, hazardous and potentially non-hazardous landfill void space, organic waste treatment and C&D Recycling facilities.

The consultation document set out the vision, objectives, main approaches to core strategy and development management policies. The approach sought by a majority of respondents to the I&O was generally consistent with the preferred approach.

Waste proposals (not including landfill / disposal) were more likely to be supported where they are within existing industrial estates used for general industry (B2), storage and distribution (B8) or land allocated as such in an adopted local plan or Local Development Framework document- existing waste management sites or in association with other waste management development.

All three IWMF were allocated, as were the transfer network and several sites for organic treatment. No preference was given to which landfill sites were considered preferred given the prematurity of identifying future voidspace given the early stage that the Minerals Local Plan was at.

The Preferred Approach consultation was held for eight weeks from 24 November 2011 to 19 January 2012.

Who was consulted and how

A CD (containing the full suite of consultation documents) and/or a letter containing a web link to the documents on the councils' websites were sent to those consultees selected in accordance with the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2008.

The consultee list included the required statutory bodies (such as the Highways Agency, the Environment Agency, Natural England) and local district/borough and parish/town councils, as well as the appropriate MPs, community groups and the wider business/waste industry for both Essex and Southend. A full list of consultees for this stage can be found in Appendix B.

In addition, ECC and SBC also sent a consultation letter, including a weblink to view the documents, to those individuals who had made a representation to the councils' previous waste consultation (Issues and Options), as well as a direct neighbour notification letter with the relevant site map to residents and businesses within 250 metres of a proposed site boundary.

The consultation was publicised to Essex and Southend residents via a poster campaign (to all Essex and Southend libraries, district/borough council offices, parish/town councils and gypsy/traveller sites for noticeboards), a public notice that appeared at the start of the consultation in newspapers covering Essex and Southend and press releases which were circulated to the relevant local press and media prior and during the consultation. Essex and Southend libraries, parish/town councils and Members were supplied with consultation postcards, which publicised the drop-in sessions, for distribution purposes.

News of the consultation also featured on the Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council websites and in Making the Links (a monthly newsletter distributed to all Essex parish/town councils). Public awareness of the consultation and the proposed sites was raised via a series of drop-in sessions held in the vicinity of the proposed sites throughout the consultation period. A facilitated workshop was also held during the consultation, see details below in Additional Consultation Activities.

Inspection copies of the consultation documents (including supporting documents) and a CD of the full suite of consultation documents was supplied to all district/borough councils and all was made available to view at Essex and Southend-on Sea council offices on request. The main document with its accompanying appendices and summary, and CDs were circulated to all Essex and Southend libraries. All consultation documents were also available to view on both councils' websites, as was the response form and dates for the drop-in sessions.

Officers responded to the request to attend a public meeting organised by Fingringhoe Parish Council. The meeting took place on 11 January 2012, where officers gave a presentation and answered questions raised by Councillors and residents regarding the consultation and the proposed site in the area.

Thirteen drop-in sessions were held in town/village halls in the vicinity of the proposed sites. The sessions were open to all members of the public and offered the opportunity to discuss the documents and proposals on a one-to-one basis with council officers. Both councils felt the sessions provided an open and informal approach to responding to residents' queries compared to the formal arrangements of a public meeting. Holding open sessions on different dates at various times of the day provided a wide-range of people the opportunity to become involved in local proposals, including seldom heard groups. Consultation summary documents and CDs were handed out free of charge at each of the sessions, as were details of how to respond. The sessions were promoted in a number of ways, in consultation letters, on both ECC and SBC's websites, in the press release circulated to local media, on posters and postcards to libraries and parish/town councils and in Making the Links newsletter. A total of 442 people attended the sessions.

An independently facilitated workshop was held at County Hall in Chelmsford during the consultation period where a mixture of statutory and industry representatives came together to discuss the topic How can we actively promote the waste hierarchy? The workshop was promoted as part of the consultation letter, via information distributed at drop-in sessions, within the press release circulated to the local press, on the ECC and SBC websites and on Twitter. The workshop attracted 28 attendees who provided feedback on two approaches around the waste hierarchy and waste prevention and re-use. A SWOT analysis was undertaken. Key results were that these themes needed co-ordinated action not just from the Waste Planning Authority.

Representations

Respondents could make comments via letter, email, fax and online.

The WDD – Preferred Approach document generated a total of 2,685 comments from 338 individual respondents.

The WDD Appendix E Sites document received a total of 1,269 comments from 653 individual respondents.

For a full list of responses please see Appendix C.

Please note if an individual made multiple representations to the same consultation question they were recorded internally as one comment while on our online consultation portal multiple representations from an individual to the same question were logged separately.

Two petitions were submitted in response to proposed waste sites within the document. A petition was signed by 37 residents in relation to the proposed site at Roxwell in Chelmsford while 378 residents signed a petition objecting to the proposed sites in Fingringhoe, Colchester. Petitions were logged onto the online consultation portal as one representation, alongside the details of the lead petitioner and the total number of signatories.

Several replica letters were also submitted for various sites:

- 165 individuals submitted the same letter in relation to the site proposed at Roxwell, Chelmsford
- 86 people submitted a replica letter objecting to the proposed site at Fingringhoe in Colchester
- 39 respondents sent in the same response regarding a proposed site in Ardleigh in Colchester
- 19 individuals submitted a different replica letter objecting to the proposed site at Fingringhoe, Colchester
- 13 residents sent in the same letter regarding a proposed site in Harlow

Several of the questions set out in the main consultation document received high numbers of responses, including those related to the Capacity Gap Report, the vision, landfill criteria, the transportation of waste and the site selection criteria.

Many respondents sought to question the validity and reliability of the waste capacity data and so questioned its application. In particular, Friends of the Earth considered that forecasts of waste arisings were too high. The comments received in relation to this question were very varied with most general comments regarding the approach taken to the WDD as a whole.

A total of 95% of responses to question three agreed with the vision. In particular support was expressed in relation to the aims of protecting the landscape and the wider natural environment and achieving greater self-sufficiency in waste management, although a number of respondents felt that the Vision should go even further in this sense.

A significant majority of the responses received to question 15 (91%) agreed with the Landfill Criteria Preferred Approach, although it should be noted that 165 of the responses that agreed were accounted for by copies of the Roxwell template letter. The residents who submitted that letter supported the process of not 'over-allocating' sites. This view was reflected by several of the other respondents who agreed with the Preferred Approach.

A total of 209 comments were received to question 21, regarding Preferred Approach 22: Transportation of Waste, with 87% of these responses stating they disagreed with it. Key issues raised included:

- Allowing access to the main road network would continue to have impacts on local roads and communities
- More should be done to require more sustainable transport modes and minimise distances waste travels
- There are potential issues with water-based transport – potential impacts on water quality, plus encouraging greater distances and going against the proximity principle.

A total of 91% of respondents to the site selection criteria question disagreed with it. Although the reasons given for this are varied, there are some common issues which can be identified from the responses, namely:

- Four comments stated that the assessment criteria should be applied to the three strategic sites;
- Eleven respondents objected to the way in which the criteria have been applied, i.e. the scores that have been given for particular sites. However, in most cases, these respondents did not seem to disagree with the actual criteria;
- Eight respondents felt that it is wrong to apply equal weight to each criterion as some are more important and should carry more weight than others in the scoring process;
- Two people commented about the need to be able to consider the various potential impacts of the sites over the long-term, and another five respondents highlighted the need to consider the cumulative impacts of sites;
- Two duplicated comments raised concerns about inconsistencies with the MDD site selection process, when they understood that the two processes should take a common approach.

Out of the 1,269 comments submitted to the sites document the majority of responses were made to the following sites:

Preferred sites

W10 – Templefields Harlow – 47 responses

Some responses did, however, seek for the IWMF allocations, which had been granted planning permission, be assessed using the same criteria as the other sites.

Non-selected sites

Li1 – Towerfield, Fingringhoe – 186 responses

Li2 – Holmwood, Fingringhoe – 188 responses

W12 – Ballast Quay, Fingringhoe – 227 responses

Li4R – Shellows Cross, Roxwell – 197 responses

The proposed preferred site at Templefields in Harlow received 47 comments with 87% disagreeing with the selection of the site. Issues raised included the negative impact the site could have on employment, the local community, surrounding landscape, the local primary school and traffic.

Although non-selected sites, the three Fingringhoe sites listed within the document generated a vast amount of responses, including two different replica letters from residents and a petition. At least 97% agreed to the non-selection of each of these sites. The Main issues raised for both Towerfield and Holmwood sites included the potential impact on the landscape, historic environment, local wildlife and nature conservation sites. The proximity to homes, a playing field and the church were also concerns as was potential subsidence and the fact that previous workings on the sites had not been restored. The non-selected site at Ballast Quay in Fingringhoe generated comments regarding the coastal protection zone, the potential for waste spillages, the water table and pollution. Potential impacts on the local oyster industry and the marine environment were also raised as key concerns.

Shellows Cross in Roxwell was listed as a non-selected site however it attracted 197 responses; 165 of these via a replica letter from Roxwell residents. 95% agreed with the site's non-selected status and stated the potential impact on the historic environment as the main issue. Road safety, the loss of agricultural land, the importance of the greenbelt and the detrimental impact on the local landscape also factored in the majority of the responses.

Revised Preferred Approach – June 2015

The Replacement Waste Local Plan - Revised Preferred Approach (RPA) was the third informal consultation stage which followed the lapse of time since the previous consultation stage was undertaken. This consultation consisted of the Revised Preferred Approach document, the Sites Assessment and Methodology Report and the Areas of Search Assessment and Methodology document.

The documents set out the revised preferred approaches to the waste local plan. This included updates to the spatial vision, strategic objectives, spatial strategy, core policies and development management policies. The second document set out the site selection methodology and a comprehensive list of preferred and non-selected site allocations. The third document set out the areas of search selection methodology and outcomes.

In addition to the adopted National Planning Policy Framework, the former PPS10 had been replaced by the National Planning Policy for Waste (NPPW) and planning practice guidance. The Essex Minerals Local Plan had also been adopted the previous year. In terms of the amount of waste from London that is needed to be planned for this was addressed specifically through the new duty-to-co-operate provisions rather than the evidence base contained in the former RSS.

In line with national policy the approach remained focused on planning for net-self-sufficiency, where practicable. However, there had been several subsequent iterations to the waste capacity gap data that had informed the Preferred Approach 2011 and, in particular, it was considered that the criticisms of the evidence base had been thoroughly re-examined. Predicted capacity gaps for waste management and disposal facilities, included inert and hazardous landfill void space, organic waste treatment and C&D Recycling facilities.

The consultation document set out the vision, objectives, main approaches to core strategy and development management policies. There were a number of amendments made to the objectives in the Preferred Approach as a result of consultation feedback. The biggest change was a conscious move away from reliance on the three permitted Integrated Waste Management Facilities. This was both the result of changing circumstances in respect of these three sites but also responding to the concerns raised from representatives to the Preferred Approach.

The Spatial Strategy continued to promote new waste development in and around the key urban centres of Basildon, Chelmsford, Colchester, Harlow and Southend-on-Sea. This approach reflects the location of the main population centres and where growth and employment is concentrated in the Plan area. It was specifically amended to afford additional flexibility through the Area of Search approach which focused on existing industrial estates used for general industry (B2), storage and distribution (B8) or land allocated as such in an adopted local plan or LDF document. There was also the need to adhere to changed national policy / guidance to better support district-heating networks. The format around which general locational criteria was based was also amended from specific waste facility types to more generic types of waste facilities.

As part of preparation for the RPA an additional 'call for sites' had been undertaken in 2014. Taking on board the comments received, both the Preferred Approach site selection methodology along with changes to national policy and guidance a new site process was undertaken.

For the Revised Preferred Approach there were 28 preferred site allocations, covering sites for LACW (including the IWMF at Tovi Eco Park (Courtauld Road, Basildon), six sites for biological waste, 7 sites for inert waste recycling, 5 sites for inert landfilling, 1 site for hazardous landfilling and 2 opportunity sites.

The Revised Preferred Approach consultation was held for six weeks from 18 June to 30 July 2015.

Who was consulted and how

A consultation letter containing a web link to the documents on the councils' websites was sent to those consultees selected in accordance with the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2012.

The consultee list included the required statutory bodies (such as the Highways Agency, the Environment Agency, Natural England) and local district/borough and parish/town councils, as well as the appropriate MPs, community groups and the wider business/waste industry for both Essex and Southend. A full list of consultees for this stage can be found in Appendix B.

In addition, ECC and SBC also sent a consultation letter, including a weblink to view the documents, to those individuals who had made a representation to the councils' previous waste consultations (Issues & Options 2010 and Preferred Approach 2011), as well as a direct neighbour notification letter with the relevant site map to residents and businesses within 250 metres of a proposed site boundary.

The consultation was publicised to Essex and Southend residents via a poster campaign (to all Essex and Southend libraries, district/borough council offices, parish/town councils and gypsy/traveller sites for noticeboards), a public notice that appeared at the start of the consultation in newspapers covering Essex and Southend and a press release, which was circulated to the relevant local press and media at the start of the consultation.

News of the consultation also featured on the Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council websites, in Making the Links (a monthly newsletter distributed to all Essex parish/town councils) and on the Gov Delivery website (ECC consultation webpage).

Inspection copies of the main RPA document and its accompanying Summary were available at County Hall in Chelmsford, at the Civic Centre in Southend and at Essex and Southend libraries and district/borough/city council offices. Copies of the Sites Assessment & Methodology and the Areas of Search Assessment & Methodology documents were made available at Essex and Southend district/borough/city council offices and at key libraries including Basildon, Braintree, Chelmsford, Colchester, Harlow and Southend. All consultation documents were also available to view on both councils' websites, as was the response form.

Four pre-consultation briefings were held at County Hall in Chelmsford for key consultees. ECC and SBC members, parish/town councils, district/borough/city councils and statutory/neighbouring authorities were invited to attend a presentation followed by a question and answer session to ensure they were prepared for the forthcoming consultation and had the information they needed to make a response.

Locality Board meetings

Locality Boards bring together elected representatives from the County, District and Parish Councils creating a democratically accountable 'hub' for partnership activity. There is a Board set up for each of the District/Borough Councils in Essex. The Boards enable an open debate to shape the future of the area by prioritising outcomes, addressing issues of duplication and unnecessary bureaucracy; realising efficiencies; adopting preventative approaches and enabling innovative cross-boundary working, whilst not overriding the sovereignty of either the District or County Council

The Waste Local Plan: Revised Preferred Approach was presented to several Locality Boards in Essex, including Tendring, Braintree, Chelmsford, Epping Forest, Maldon and Uttlesford. Locality Boards are an interface between Essex County Council

Respondents could make comments via letter, email and online.

The Revised Preferred Approach document received 399 comments from 90 individuals.

The Site Methodology and Assessment document received 658 comments from 402 individuals

The Areas of Search Assessment and Methodology document received 51 comments from 24 individuals.

A petition was submitted in response to a proposed waste site within the consultation document. A petition was signed by 393 individuals objecting to the proposed site site W31 Morses Lane in Brightlingsea. The Petition was logged onto the online consultation portal as one representation, alongside the details of the lead petitioner and the total number of signatories.

For a full list of responses please see Appendix C.

Please note if an individual made multiple representations to the same consultation question they were recorded internally as one comment while on our online consultation portal multiple representations from an individual to the same question were logged separately.

Representations from the nuclear waste industry and the Environment Agency indicated that the preferred approach to radioactive waste was not appropriate given the government's stance on storage and movement of such waste. The key change allows radioactive waste generated outside Essex and Southend to be stored at Bradwell.

Representations from neighbouring planning authorities indicated that whilst the RWLP did not necessarily need to identify a specific site allocation for non-nuclear waste management, a criteria based policy should be included.

Representations confirmed a confusion regarding the hierarchal preference for sites, over Areas of Search, then finally unallocated sites. The Pre Submission Plan was amended to set site allocations and Areas of Search on an equal policy basis. Site allocations continue to be included to provide for the strategic waste needs throughout the Plan period. Areas of Search continue to be designated to provide for local needs, in recognition of the potential opportunities for waste development in employment areas. Unallocated sites are confirmed as the final option for waste development, to be considered only where allocated sites and Areas of Search are not suitable/are unavailable.

Representations indicated that the waste capacity to be provided by the RWLP may not have been accurate and would benefit from improvement, including considering extending the period to be covered by the data. The release of the Environment Agency Waste Data Interrogator in October 2015 together with a desire to update the existing baseline waste capacity information to inform the future waste capacity requirements prompted the preparation of a Topic Paper. This has revealed changes in the waste capacity needs of the Plan area as follows:

Waste type	RPA capacity requirements	Pre Submission capacity requirements
Biological waste treatment	309,000 tpa	217,000 tpa
Inert waste recycling	1,270,000 tpa	1,530,000tpa
Inert waste disposal	256,000 ^{m3} per annum
Hazardous waste disposal	50,000 tpa	113,000tpa

Areas of Search

Representations on Areas of Search designations largely focussed on future local land use aspirations and recent planning decisions. The methodology was not amended, although the representations were used to inform amendments to the information provided on each area, consequently several designations were removed from inclusion in the RWLP:

Temple Farm Industrial Estate (Chelmsford City Council); and Ashdon Road Commercial Centre (Uttlesford District Council).

Sustainability Appraisal & Habitats Regulations Assessment

Site Specific Issues

The majority of the 1108 comments to the Revised Preferred Approach were site specific. The preferred site allocations of W8 Elsenham, W13 Wivenhoe, W19 Hastingwood and W31 Morses Lane, Brightlingsea and L(n)7R/8R Little Bullocks / Crumps Farm were a particular focus for representations. Taking on board the comments received, both the Revised Preferred Approach site selection methodology and the site selection process were updated resulting in the selection of the final site allocations included in the Plan. This process incorporated the revised waste capacity gap requirements set out in the Topic Paper as indicated above.

Although the site selection methodology referenced the Green Belt in relation to relevant sites, it was not a criteria used to preclude sites from being selected as preferred allocations. Representations did not support this conclusion; consequently the methodology was revised to remove any potential site in the greenbelt from consideration as an allocated site.

Change to the tonnages needed and site assessment process has been reflected in some differences to the sites chosen for biological treatment, inert recycling and inert disposal. The proposed site at Fingringhoe Quarry was able to demonstrate that it can serve the Plan area as well being assessed as being suitable for its contribution to the inert waste stream.

Additional Site Consultation (Newport Quarry) – October 2015

The Additional Site Consultation was the fourth and final informal consultation stage. Following the close of the Revised Preferred Approach (RPA) consultation an additional site was put forward by the site promoter. This stage consisted of a focused consultation regarding a site proposed for recycling and disposal of inert construction and demolition waste at Newport Quarry.

The Additional Site consultation was held for six weeks from 15 October to 26 November 2015.

Who was consulted and how

Since this site consultation affected a specific district of Essex (Uttlesford), this stage of plan preparation was carried out as a focussed consultation. This means that the required consultees were selected in accordance with the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2012 and then filtered to ensure those consultees affected by the proposed site at Newport were all contacted.

A consultation letter containing a web link to the documents on the councils' websites was sent to those consultees selected in accordance with the Town and Country Planning (Local Development) (England) Regulations 2012. The list of consultees included the required statutory bodies (such as the Highways Agency, the Environment Agency, Natural England), the relevant members and district and parish/town councils (all those in Uttlesford) as well as community groups and the wider business/waste industry for both Essex and Southend. A full list of consultees for this stage can be found in Appendix B.

In addition, ECC and SBC also sent a consultation letter, including a weblink to view the documents, to those individuals who had made a representation to the councils' Revised Preferred Approach June 2015 consultation, as well as a direct neighbour notification letter with the relevant site map to residents and businesses within 250 metres of the proposed site boundary.

The consultation was publicised to residents in the proposed site area via a poster campaign (to Uttlesford district council offices, libraries and parish/town councils), a public notice that appeared at the start of the consultation in the newspaper covering the Uttlesford area (Saffron Walden Reporter) and a press release, which was circulated to the relevant local press and media at the start of the consultation. News of the consultation also featured on the Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council websites and in Making the Links (a monthly newsletter distributed to all Essex parish/town councils).

Inspection copies of the site proforma document were available at County Hall in Chelmsford, at the Civic Centre in Southend, at all nine Uttlesford libraries and at both Uttlesford district Council offices. The proforma was also available to view on both councils' websites, as was the response form.

Representations

Respondents could make comments via letter, email and online.

A total of 27 comments were made by 27 individuals.

For a full list of responses please see Appendix C.

Opposition to the proposal of Newport quarry by members of the public relates to the site proximity to the village of Newport. However each preferred site has been through a detailed site assessment process which includes proximity to sensitive receptors, resulting in the site being deemed acceptable.

An increase in traffic was suggested to be an issue by eight respondents. However a transport assessment will be required at the planning application stage to assess the traffic impact on the local road network. Concerns were also noted surrounding sufficient site access. Access is via a private haul track to the south of the quarry to the unnamed local road and then the B1383.

Two respondents suggested that the quarry was in flood zone three. Upon review, the site is within flood zone 1, which is the least susceptible zone to flooding. This is confirmed by the Flood and Water Management team at Essex County Council.

Widdington Parish Council made a representation with main issues surrounding the already operational site in Widdington (Carr and Bircher). This existing permission is set to expire in 2022 with restoration in 2023, with the potential for cumulative effects or competition not arising due to Newport not submitting an application for 5 years with restoration finishing in 2042.

Members of the public and Stansted Mountfitchet Parish Council noted the potential for contamination of watercourses due to the nature of the waste treatment facility. The Environment Agency is the permitting authority for inert landfills and will ultimately decide whether the preferred site is appropriate.

The site at Newport Quarry was subsequently assessed favourably for its contribution to the inert waste stream as part of the site assessment and associated selection process.

Appendix A – Consultation procedures used from each stage

Issues and Options

Consultation from 7 October to 2 December 2010

- Inspection copies of consultation documents (including supporting documents on CD) held at all Essex/Southend district/borough council offices (x15 display points), at County Hall in Chelmsford and at Civic Centre in Southend on request. The main consultation document and its accompanying summary document held at all Essex and Southend libraries (x80 display points) for the duration of the consultation.
- Posters to all Essex and Southend libraries, district/borough council offices, parish/town councils and gypsy/traveller sites.
- All consultation documents, information on the consultation and details on how to respond were placed on the Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council websites, along with the roadshow and workshop dates.
- Consultation letter with main document and/or summary document and CD (containing full suite of consultation documents) sent to ECC and SBC statutory and general consultees. Consultation letter emailed to those parish/town councils who requested electronic communication only.
- Leaflet containing information on the consultation, roadshow and workshops sent to all Essex and Southend parish/town councils and both councils' members. Leaflets also emailed to waste collection authorities for their input and handed out at roadshows.
- Response form available for download from both councils' websites and as hard copy on request.
- A joint ECC/SBC public notice published at the start of the consultation in multiple newspapers that covered both Essex and Southend.
- A press release each for both Essex and Southend circulated to the local press and media before the start of the consultation.

- Making the Links newsletter articles running several months before the consultation until the end (December).
- Information on the consultation placed on Engage Essex, the ECC consultation page.
- Facilitated workshops held in Colchester, Chelmsford, Brentwood, Braintree and Southend.
- Roadshows held on various dates in 13 libraries around the county, including Southend throughout the consultation. Summary documents, CDs, response forms and leaflets were available to takeaway.

Preferred Approach

Consultation from 24 November 2011 to 19 January 2012

- Inspection copies of consultation documents (including supporting documents) and a CD containing full suite of documents held at all Essex/Southend district/borough council offices (x15 display points), at County Hall in Chelmsford and at Civic Centre in Southend on request. The main consultation document, its accompanying summary, both appendices and the consultation CD circulated to all Essex and Southend libraries (x80 display points) for the duration of the consultation.
- Posters to all Essex and Southend libraries, district/borough council offices, parish/town councils and gypsy/traveller sites.
- All consultation documents, information on the consultation and details on how to respond were placed on the Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council websites, along with the drop in session venues and dates as well as information on the workshop.
- Consultation letter with CD (containing full suite of consultation documents) sent to ECC and SBC statutory consultees.
- Consultation letter containing weblink to view documents sent to all ECC and SBC general consultees, those who had made a representation to the council's previous waste consultation (I&O stage) and those parish/town councils who had requested electronic communication only.
- Consultation letter and relevant site maps sent to residents and businesses within 250 metres of a proposed site boundary.
- Both councils' Members and parish/town councils with a proposed site in their area were sent the main document, summary document and relevant site maps/details from Appendix E. Those without a site in their area received a CD and a summary document.

- Postcard, featuring information on the drop-in session venues, dates and times were sent to All Essex and Southend libraries (x10 each for free distribution), parish/town councils and to both councils' Members.
- Response form available for download from both councils' websites and as hard copy on request.
- A joint ECC/SBC public notice published at the start of the consultation in multiple newspapers that covered both Essex and Southend.
- Three press releases circulated to the relevant local press and media several weeks before the start, at the very start and mid-way through the consultation.
- Making the Links newsletter articles during the consultation months.
- Public meeting (where requested) – attended for Fingringhoe Parish Council.
- Three pre-consultation briefings sessions held for ECC and SBC members, parish/town councils and industry representatives.
- A facilitated workshop held at County Hall in Chelmsford.
- Thirteen drop-in sessions held in key areas around the county (including Southend) on various dates throughout the consultation. Generated 442 attendees throughout the 13 sessions.

Revised Preferred Approach (RPA)

Consultation from 18 June to 30 July 2015

- Inspection copies of the main RPA document and its accompanying Summary were available at County Hall in Chelmsford, at the Civic Centre in Southend and at Essex and Southend libraries and district/borough/city council offices. Copies of the Sites Assessment & Methodology and the Areas of Search Assessment & Methodology documents were made available at Essex and Southend district/borough/city council offices and at key libraries including Basildon, Braintree, Chelmsford, Colchester, Harlow and Southend.
- Posters to all Essex and Southend libraries, district/borough council offices, parish/town councils and gypsy/traveller sites.
- All consultation documents, information on the consultation and details on how to respond were placed on the Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council websites.

- Consultation letter containing weblink to view documents sent to all ECC and SBC statutory and general consultees and those who had made a representation to the council's previous waste consultations (Issues & Options 2010 and Preferred Approach 2011 stages).
- Consultation letter and relevant site maps sent to residents and businesses within 250 metres of a proposed site boundary.
- Both councils' Members and parish/town councils with a preferred site in their area were sent the relevant site maps and/or proformas.
- Response form available for download from both councils' websites and as hard copy on request.
- A joint ECC/SBC public notice published at the start of the consultation in multiple newspapers that covered both Essex and Southend.
- A press release circulated to the relevant local press and media at the start of the consultation.
- Newsletter articles before and during the consultation in Making the Links and Gov Delivery.
- Four pre-consultation briefings sessions held for ECC and SBC members, parish/town councils, district/borough/city councils and statutory consultees/neighbouring authority representatives.
- A series of locality board meetings held with individual district/borough/city councils, including Tendring, Braintree, Chelmsford, Epping Forest, Maldon and Uttlesford.

Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council consulted all persons/businesses situated within 250 metres of a proposed waste site boundary – details of these address points are available on request.

Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council consulted those individuals who had made a representation to its previous waste consultation (Issues & Options 2010) – requests for details of these residents would be handled in accordance with the requirements of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Data Protection Act 1998.

Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council consulted all persons/businesses situated within 250 metres of the proposed waste site boundary – details of these address points are available on request.

Essex County Council and Southend-on-Sea Borough Council consulted those individuals who had made a representation to its Revised Preferred Approach 2015 waste consultation – requests for details of these residents would be handled in accordance with the requirements of the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Data Protection Act 1998.

Appendix C – Representations

The representations for the Issues and Options 2010, Preferred Approach 2011, Revised Preferred Approach 2015 and Additional Site Consultation 2015 can be viewed at: <http://consult.essexcc.gov.uk/portal>
